FEATHER-PULLING

Feather-pulling destroys a flock. When a cock begins to look as if he were picked on the neck and breast, you may then begin to watch for the hen that is doing the mischief; and she should be removed at once, as she will teach the habit to others if she remains with the flock. Feather-pulling is a vice that comes from confinement and idleness. There is no remedy for it, but it may be prevented by so feeding the fowls that they will be compelled to scratch. They should be fed meat and bone meal, plenty of grass, and a little salt in their food.

LODI

Lloyd Stroup of Spencer was slightly injured last Friday afternoon, when he was thrown from his motorcycle, on the south side of the square. He used his foot to rise the standard which supports the machine and got his toes in the spokes of the rear wheel. His foot was injured.

Two Austrian laboring men were arrested by Marshall Witherstone for being drunk at the trolley station Sunday evening. They were each fined two dollars and costs the next morning by Mayor Ewing. Such things are to be expected of Austrians.

Dr. J. E. Waite was painfully cut about his left eye and cheek last Friday afternoon when his auto "kicked" or back fired as he was cranking it in his barn at his home. The Dr.'s face was forcibly pulled against the radiator on his engine and he was rendered unconscious and thrown violently to the floor, where he lay for some minutes. Recovering slightly he went in to his office and had the injuries attended to. Several stitches were required to close the wounds. Though his face looks badly the doctor is feeling well.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM THE OBERLIN BUSINESS COLLEGE

The Oberlin Business College is making great advancement the present year. Its new building nearly doubles its equipment and the fact that, after a rigid inspection by the Department of Public Instruction of Ohio, it has been placed upon the Accredited List of Ohio Colleges, greatly enlarges its field of usefulness. This school enjoys the distinction of being the first business college in Ohio to receive state recognition.

There seems always to be a demand for graduates of this school. Several accepted positions last week at Cleveland, two at Elyria and some in other places. The Interstate Position Exchange at Cleveland telegraphed this school last Wednesday for several of its graduates to fill positions in that city.

The second spring term will open on May 3. The special offer of $100 for the years course to those who enroll this spring is attracting wide attention and many are arranging to take advantage of it. Any of our readers interested may receive full information by writing President Henderson.
